

Abstract

A cotton wool cleansing pad includes a panel of hydroentangled cotton material having a dry weight in the range 170-250g per square meter impregnated with a cleansing liquid or the like. Preferably a number of the pads are formed in a interlinked strip of pads joined edge to edge by tear-away links and mounted in a dispensing pack.